

A photograph of a power line tower at dusk. The tower is a lattice structure, and several power lines are visible stretching across the frame. The background shows a silhouette of a hill or mountain range against a light, hazy sky. In the bottom right corner, there is a white text overlay showing the date and time.

27 5 2005
20:33:54